

Additional Workshops

Saturday, February 27, 2010

*Note: All sessions will occur simultaneously. Please choose one session to attend.

1:00-4:00PM

*Note: This session will only be held on Saturday, Feb 27th.

- Ethical and Responsible Research Practices – What are They and Why are They Important
Facilitators: Mel Druelinger Director, Office of Research and Sponsored Programs, Professor of Chemistry, Colorado State University – Pueblo
Herb Childress, Dean of Research and Assessment, Boston Architectural College

This interactive workshop will explore responsible practices in scientific, qualitative, and humanistic research. Participants will review ethical issues in research – standards, judgments and consequences – and their importance for faculty, students, and institutions.

*Note: The following sessions will be held on Saturday, February 27th and will continue on Sunday, February 28th.

- Proposal Writing: Beyond the Basics: Research Grants in the Sciences
Facilitator: Thomas J. Wenzel, Charles A. Dana Professor of Chemistry, Bates College

The workshop will provide advice for writing more competitive research grant applications in the sciences. Particular emphasis will be devoted to research grants available through the National Science Foundation and National Institutes of Health. Participants will be required to provide an abstract and list of aims for a research proposal that they intend to submit and these will be discussed by workshop facilitators and participants.

Location:

- Proposal Writing: Beyond the Basics: Project and Curricular Proposals in Social Sciences and Humanities
Facilitator: William E. Campbell, Director of Grants & Research, University of Wisconsin-River Falls

This interactive workshop will introduce participants to the grants world (searching for funding, how proposals are read/scored) and the strategies practiced by grant winners. You will learn how to write the components of a competitive proposal: introduction/abstract, need, plan of activities, evaluation, and budget. In small groups, you will begin the proposal-writing process, component by component. Bring your ideas for grant proposals.

Location:

Sunday, February 28, 2010

7:00-8:30AM Continental Breakfast – Lower Foyer

9:00AM-12:00 NOON (Continuation from yesterday sessions)

- Proposal Writing: Beyond the Basics: Research Grants in the Sciences
Facilitator: Thomas J. Wenzel, Charles A. Dana Professor of Chemistry, Bates College
Location:

- Proposal Writing: Beyond the Basics: Project and Curricular Proposals in Social Sciences and Humanities
Facilitator: William E. Campbell, Director of Grants & Research, University of Wisconsin-River Falls
Location: