Note that regional psychology meetings usually have programming specific for undergraduate research; more details about each conference can be found here: http://www.apa.org/about/apa/organizations/regionals.aspx

The National Conference on Undergraduate Research (NCUR) is a wonderful multi-disciplinary meeting with a strong psychology presence (it's usually among the top disciplines represented). More details can be found here: http://www.cur.org/conferences_and_events/student_events/ncur/

CUR maintains a listing of undergraduate research conferences in all disciplines, including some multi-discipline conferences that are excellent for psychology students, such as Sigma Xi: http://www.cur.org/resources/students/presentation_opportunities/
