Governance Nominations Open Until November 15

Each fall, the nominations committee solicits self-nominations from the general CUR membership for positions as divisional councilors and executive board members.

Serving as a Division Councilor gives you an opportunity to be directly involved in shaping the future of undergraduate research as it relates to your division. Share your voice for driving forward CUR's mission and vision statements while becoming connected to fellow colleagues. Every division has openings. Hear from your fellow colleagues on why you should be a thought leader.

Ready to look at UR more broadly, and leverage your strategic thinking and foresight skills? Then consider applying for a position on the CUR Executive Board. Open calls for a President-Elect, two General Representatives, and three Council Representatives.

Connecting You to Funding and Grants

Whether you are writing a grant proposal, navigating the ins and outs of finding funding for your undergraduate research program, or just trying to figure out where to start, the entire process can feel like climbing a mountain. CUR Dialogues provides an opportunity for the UR community to discuss the many available possibilities of funding and grants with grant experts, federal agency program officers, and other grant funders. This conference offers the UR community a supportive journey up that steep hill when developing program initiatives that call for future funding. Choose from the two learning options (Guided or Standard) to best suit your needs.

Fall Award Deadlines

The deadline to submit initial nominations for the CUR-Goldwater Scholars Faculty Mentor Award is November 1, 2022. This prestigious award recognizes faculty mentors who conduct their research in a STEM discipline and have mentored a minimum of three Goldwater Scholars during their career. Self-nominations will not be accepted, faculty mentors must be nominated by their institution.

Many of CUR's divisions offer awards for both mentors and students, to support research projects, provide funding for conference presentations, and honor exemplary mentoring. Here are the awards currently open.

- Psychology Undergraduate Student Research and Presentation Award | Deadline is November 1, 2022
- Physics & Astronomy Nadine Barlow Undergraduate Research Support Award | Deadline is November 17, 2022
- Health Science Innovative Mentor Award | Deadline is December 31, 2022
- Health Science NCUR Presentation Award | Deadline is December 31, 2022
- Social Sciences Outstanding Mentor Award | Deadline is March 1, 2023
- Social Sciences Undergraduate Conference Awards | Rolling deadline
