How Is Your Workload?
Volunteers from CUR's Faculty Workload Working Group have designed a survey aiming to understand how the types and level of institutional support for this faculty work drive faculty participation and, therefore, student access to this important, high-impact practice in higher education. This survey is for a national research study about faculty mentorship of undergraduate research, scholarship, and creative activity. It will take about 15 minutes. Begin Survey>>

Calling All Divisions: Award Season is Open
Spring is upon us and many divisions are seeking nominations for the inspiring work, leadership, mentorship, and research your fellow colleagues and students have accomplished this past year. Calls for nominations for division-specific mentor awards, student travel awards, and many more will be closing in the coming weeks.
