

CONTENTS

Summer 2017 Focus:

Undergraduate Research and Higher Education of the Future

Focus Articles

Award-Winning Mentors See Democratization as the Future of Undergraduate Research	4
– Jenny Olin Shanahan, Helen Walkington, Elizabeth Ackley, Eric E. Hall, and Kearsley A. Stewart
Curating Exhibitions as Undergraduate Research	12
– Alexa Sand, Becky Thoms, Erin Davis, Darcy Pumphrey, and Joyce Kinkead
Design Thinking as Research Pedagogy for Undergraduates: Project-Based Learning with Impact	18
– Linda Chamberlain and Susan Mendoza
Leveraging the Maker Movement for Undergraduate Research: Developing a Making and Innovation Culture	23
– Jeanne Mekolichick and Joseph Wirgau
Utilizing Undergraduate Research to Enhance Integrative Learning	28
– Karen Mumford, Stephen Hill, and Laurel Kieffer

From the International Desk

Some Pathologies of Undergraduate Research—and How to Cure Them	33
– Ronald Barnett
A Response to “Some Pathologies of Undergraduate Research—and How to Cure Them”	39
– Julio Rivera

Departments

From CUR’s Executive Officer – Elizabeth Ambros	2
From the CURQ Issue Editor – Janice DeCosmo	3
Vignettes	41
Undergraduate Research in Support of Community Decision-Making – David P. Burns and Anya Goldin
Anyone Can Play: Forming Undergraduate Interdisciplinary Research around Video Games – Seth Hudson and Doug Eyman
Ensuring the Safety and Success of Dual-Enrolled Students Involved in Undergraduate Research through a University-High School Partnership – Tricia L. Meredith and Donna Chamely-Wiik
Interdisciplinary Approach to Undergraduate Research in Education: Collaborating on the Development of a Practitioner’s Textbook – Stacia C. Miller, Christina J. McIntyre, and Suzanne F. Lindt
A Primarily Undergraduate Institution and a Research Hospital Collaborate on a Research Initiative in Central Pennsylvania – Nathan Ryan
Book Review: The Indispensable Guide to Undergraduate Research: Success in and Beyond College	44
– Erin M. Hayes	