CONTENTS

Winter Focus:
Undergraduate Research Goes Abroad

Fifty Years of Undergraduate Research in Europe ................................................................. 7
—Bill Campbell, Lissa Schneider-Rebozo

Developing U.S. Students’ Skills in Communication Research Through Ethnographies of Speech in Different London Settings ........................................................................................................ 14
—Danielle Leek

Fostering Students’ Commitment to Service Through International Field Research .......... 20
—Robin Sears, Laura S. Meitzner

Other Articles
From the International Desk: Student as Producer:
Research-engaged Teaching Frames University-wide Curriculum Development .................. 28
—Mike Neary

Incorporating Undergraduate Research into Teacher Education:
Preparing Thoughtful Teachers Through Inquiry-Based Learning ........................................ 35
—Jennifer A. Manak, Gregory Young

Benefits of Research Fellowships for Undergraduates with Disabilities .......................... 39
—Samantha Langley-Turnbaugh, Jean Whitney, Lynn Lovewell, Babette Moeller

Departments
From CUR’s President — Amelia J. Ahern-Rindell ................................................................. 2
From CUR’s Executive Officer — Elizabeth Ambos ................................................................. 4
From the CURQ Issue Editor — Janice DeCosmo ................................................................. 5
Calendar .................................................................................................................................. 6
CURQ vignettes ....................................................................................................................... 46
Book Review: Transforming a College: The Story of a Little-Known College’s Strategic Climb to National Distinction ................................................................. 48
—William Ankrum

In this issue of CURQ on the Web .......................................................................................... Back Cover